

Forming of Professional Public Manager from Romanian Public Administration

Andreea ZAMFIR,
Senior Teaching Assistant, Ph. D Student

Abstract: The close evaluation of the phenomena generated by the Romania's integration in the European Union must be a major concern of the specialists who work in a sector with multiple social and economic implications, that is the public administration sector.

Nowadays, the major and deep changes of the public institutions from the developed countries impose Romania to intensify the activities for modernizing and developing the public administration. If an efficient public administration is expected, that will require continuous professional improvement of the public managers and of the personal hired in the public institutions.

Starting from the comparative analysis of training and developing managers from the public administration in the international environment, there are presented the major difficulties in training the civil servants from Romania and also some action directions for the development of a professional public managers' board.